

UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI
C O L U M B I A

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE
DEPARTMENT OF BACTERIOLOGY AND PREVENTIVE MEDICINE

January 3, 1953

Dr. Joshua Lederberg
Department of Genetics
College of Agriculture
University of Wisconsin
Madison, Wisconsin

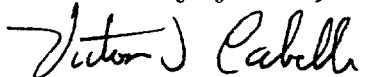

Dear Dr. Lederberg:

The reprints and your letter both arrived safely and I want to thank you for these as well as the sample of ONPG. When I wrote you previously, I was well aware that your supply was probably quite limited; hence, the "tantalizing" sample which you sent was somewhat unexpected.

My contacts with commercial synthetic laboratories have been somewhat limited; nevertheless I may make the attempt. The chemistry department here at Missouri may be able to synthesize it for me. If they will not do it, then, as a last resort, I will try my own hand at it.

Needless to say, as soon as reprints are available, they will be sent on to you.

Sincerely yours,

Victor J. Cabelli
Assistant Professor of Bacteriology